Works of art will be considered in terms of the nature of creative experience, art in the life of the artist and society, as well as the influence of changing materials. Lectures and discussion will be supplemented by sketching practice, serving both as an aid to memorization and giving an awareness of artistic form and technique.

Course Goals:

This course will acquaint students with the key artistic moments, and key artworks, in the West from the Renaissance to the Present. Throughout, the lectures will link the art works to the historical moment of their production. We will also learn the central concepts as well as skills of art interpretation. Finally, exercises in sketching artwork will allow us to consider the acts of creation for the artworks under consideration.

Grading & Evaluation:

- Class Participation (10%): Regular attendance and participation.

A note on participation. This is a lecture course, but students are expected to follow the lectures closely and be prepared to answer questions asked in class by the professor. Students will be expected to participate fully in the discussion sections led by the teaching assistant.

- Sketching Sessions (10%): Each section is divided into two parts:
 - Part 1: the spatial reproduction of certain images from lecture/textbook
 - Part 2: a personal application of style in sketching an object.

- Reaction Papers (15% each=30% total): you will be asked to write two reaction papers (3 pages) on key readings and artistic movements throughout the course. Reaction papers will describe the artwork assigned, identify the central innovations and techniques used to create the work, and then consider the relation of that work to the period in which it was created – both as innovation as well as a reflection of aesthetic practice.
- Midterm Quiz (20%) an evaluation of your knowledge at mid-point in the semester. For the two exams you will be given a series of tasks to complete: slide identifications, multiple choice, matching, essay writing. Identifications are meant to test your analytic knowledge. Multiple choice and matching will test your understanding of concepts and key terms discussed in class. Writing an essay will allow you to put key concepts together and discuss them at length. You will be allowed one hand-written 3x5 index card for each exam. We will practice example exam questions in class.
- Final Exam (30%): Cumulative for the semester, with the same format as the midterm.
